

KIKA'S BIRTHDAY

This book was inspired by Danyah's daughter who loves to bake cakes, and a cheeky little mouse they watched nibbling seed from the bird-feeder outside their home in London. This story began as a puppet show and has been road tested on many children since! Kika has a number of adventures throughout the year, each linked to a special festival....

*'Queen Summer shone down
And soon made it clear that Kika's birthday was suddenly here
Our mice were excited and made such a to-do
For birthdays are as special from them as for you.*

*That night in the dark, as she soundly slept.
Her friends down the stairs quietly crept.
They laid out the table with candles and shell
A goblet and flowers and tinkling bells.'*
